1644	1644	Bulstrode Way	35	'Oldhurst' 35 Bulstrode Way	New house	Morley Horder P. FRIBA 148 New Bond Street London W1	23-Feb-09	Designed by nationally important architect P. Morley Horder (1870-1944) who was articulated in the offices of George Devey and who designed numerous country houses. This is a building of local note. Two storeys plus attic. All red/brown brick. Western gable and porch have ornamental dove-cotes. This gable roof slopes down over porch rather like a catside roof. Round headed front door. Segmental arches over windows. Julian: Large 3-bay house by leading London architect imitating 16 th /17 th century farmhouse/manor house. 2 storeys plus attics. Note roof of projecting east gable continued down over porch. Note ornamental dove-cote in west gable and gable over porch.	Positive

1685	1685	Bulstrode Way	41	'Humeswood' now 'Langness' 41 Bulstrode Way	New house	Lee F Lovell 22 Gilston Road London SW	18-May-09	Formerly called Humeswood. Plans for additions by Wood, Sarvis & Muir approved in 1914. Pebbledash to upper storey and brick to ground floor has also been painted white. One and a half storeys with gables breaking through eaves - one is half-timbered with upper floor slightly jettied on brackets. Hipped roof over porch. Replacement windows have eroded character somewhat. Julian: Three bay, two storey hipped roof, projecting timbered jettied gable to bay.	Positive

1506	1506	Bulstrode Way	43	'Stonesdale' 43 Bulstrode Way	New house	Gibbs T Harry ARIBA 23 Devereux Court Strand London WC	25-Feb-08	Very well-preserved house. A flat-roofed canted bay window with bracketed eaves is flanked by two gables. Mainly white painted pebbledash with red brick laid in English bond. Circles of glass bottle-end set as decoration in apex of gables on house and garage. This was a form of decoration sometimes used on Chiltern brick and flint houses so may be a reference to the local vernacular. A gravel drive completes the garden village character. Julian: 4-bay house with attractive façade featuring two gables with pebble dash either side of prominent projecting staircase window. Good composition. By quality London architect. Garage extension to west in keeping. Note mansoned mullioned staircase canted bay window.	Positive
1518	1518	Bulstrode Way	43	'Stonesdale' 43 Bulstrode Way	Drainage plan See Plan 1506	Gibbs T Harry ARIBA 23 Devereux Court Strand London WC	24-Mar-08
1419	1419	Bulstrode Way	45	The Haven 45 Bulstrode Way	New house	Fair & Myer ARIBA 39 Furnival Street Holborn EC	16-Jul-07	Another example of Fair & Myer using brick quoins as decoration combined with pebbledash. Despite its replacement windows the design remains strong enough to make a positive contribution to character. Particularly strong outline with the building gradually stepped back from the road suitable for this site on the bend in Bulstrode Way. Long stair window with tympanum over. Julian: Larger 3-bay house by good architect - 5 further examples of Fair & Myer's work in proposed conservation area. Large extension to north 2005. Note projecting staircase wing through three storeys with feature panel and relieving arch over staircase window. Northern extension to east bay in 2005 with correct brick rusticated quoins and elegant chimney.	Positive

		Bulstrode Way	47	47 Blewbury Cottage				Two bay, one and a half storey gardeners cottage
		Bulstrode Way	49	49 Blewbury Place				Very large three bay, two storey house, hipped roof. Two projecting gables to east and west. Further projecting gable over ornamental porch. Note ornamental tiling to east and west gables and tall staircase window to west of porch. Built c 2000.
No Plan	1496	Bulstrode Way	51	'Feltrim Lodge' now 'Blewbury House' 51 Bulstrode Way	New house	Fair & Myer ARIBA	25-Feb-08	Formerly Feltrim Lodge. Plans for alterations by Wood, Sarvis & Muir approved in 1912. Large, imposing house with strong appearance. A series of hipped roofs seemingly climbs up the front wall, from the porch, then over the long staircase window and finally a half-hipped roof over the front attic window. The plain clay tiled roof slopes continuously down to the porch making a strong line. All red/brown brick. Chimney stacks have pierced pots. Julian: Very large red-brick house with billiard room by Fair & Myer with vernacular-style fenestration and prominent bay window to light staircase. This house and No. 53 make a dramatic architectural statement. Note front garden with ornamental box hedging.	Positive

No Plan	1495	Bulstrode Way	53	'Wiltshire House' now 'Allendale' 53 Bulstrode Way	New house	Fair & Myer ARIBA 39 Furnival Street Holborn EC	25-Feb-08	Formerly Wiltshire House. 1934 extensions by Sir Arthur Hay. Another strong design, albeit with some character erosion by replacement windows. Two storeys plus attic with flat-roofed dormers. Double front door has semi-circular fanlight over and decorative brick panel above that. Also a semi-circular brick panel over one upper floor window. Interesting roofshape with roof extending down to form a hip over one small gable. Julian: Large red-brick house by Fair & Myer with unusual fenestration and roof levels. 1934 extensions to east by Sir Arthur Hay do not spoil the composition. Note fan light window above central doorway. Note brick panelling above door and above first floor bay window.	Positive
7217	7217	Bulstrode Way	53	'Wiltshire House' now 'Allendale' 53 Bulstrode Way	Proposed alteration & Addition at 'Levelis'	Hay Sir Arthur Bart, 45 Onslow Square, SW7	18-Dec-34
1330	1330	Bulstrode Way	55	'Garston Lodge' now 'Harewood Lodge' 55 Bulstrode Way	New house & stables	Bird Hugo R St Thomas's Gate Brentwood	19-Dec-06	Formerly Garston Lodge and one of the earliest houses in Bulstrode Way. Well-preserved character. Its multi-paned casement windows are a particularly strong feature. These include a lunette window in gable, oval oculus and a flat-roofed first floor bay window. Cherry red brick to ground floor with white painted pebbledash to upper floor. Gravel drive. Julian: Large 4-bay house. One of the earliest in Bulstrode Way. First-floor rendered and lunette window to attic bedroom. Note oval window above porch. Note bay windows with ogee curved lead roofs to east and west gables. Note oval window to west facing gable.	Positive
		Bulstrode Way	57	57 Skene Lodge				Three bay, one and a half storey house, projecting central gable with heavy timbering over porch. Built c1960s
1582	1582	Bulstrode Way	59	'Moranside' 59 Bulstrode Way	New house	Lovegrove & Pepworth 374/8 Old Street London EC	22-Sep-08	Originally a small cottage with historical associations since it was built for the antiquarian and publisher W P Phillimore. Original part had mansard roof still visible in western end. Hipped roofs with large ridge tiles. Lunette attic window echoed in modern garage. Recent extension in character but replacement windows not. Julian: Small 2-bay "cottage" on triangular site, built for antiquarian and publisher W.P. Phillimore by good London architect. Original façade replaced by early extension to north on site of original detached studio. Note mansard roof to original south wing and later extensions. Note lunette attic window to north extension copied in modern garage to east all in keeping.	Positive
1571	1571	Bulstrode Way	61	'Fircroft' now 'Latchmoor End', 61 Bulstrode Way	New house	Troup F W FRIBA 14 Grays Inn Square London WC	28-Jul-08	Formerly called Fircroft. Troup was a well-known Arts and Crafts architect who designed the Art Workers Guild extension. Plans for alterations in 1926. Not a typical Arts and Crafts house. Plain appearance. Rendered walls with, unusually for Gerrards Cross, a Westmorland slate roof - however such slate roofs were fashionable with architects such as Voysey. Porch has wrought iron posts. Prominent lateral chimney stack. Included in this table because it represents the work of a leading architect although the replacement windows have compromised the historic character. This house backs onto Latchmoor Pond and closes the view southwards out of Layers Ways and thus is in a sensitive location. Julian: Large 3-bay house by leading London architect. Slate covered hipped roofs and prominent staircase window. Note projecting chimney breast to east bay heating billiard room. Note lead roof over porch supported on slender wrought iron frame. Matching twin wrought iron pillars to gateways on both driveways.	Positive

		Bulstrode Way	65	65 Fortuna Cottage				Three bay, semi bungalow with projecting bay and bay window. Built c 1950s
		Bulstrode Way	67	67 Fairfield				Three bay, two storey house, concrete tile roof, timber cladding to first floor. Possible reused London stock brick. Built c. 1970
		Bulstrode Way	69	69 Springdale				Formerly called Sunnyside. Historically interesting since it originated as the Victorian schoolmaster's house and predates the construction of Bulstrode Way. Altered in 1913 to the designs of Davis & Boddy. Pierced barge boards and spiral patterned chimney pots. Rendered and painted white with fictive half-timbering. The wide garage door fronting the road is not in sympathy. Julian: Small Victorian house, once occupied by Gerrards Cross schoolteacher. Predates construction of Bulstrode Way. Cement rendered with painted imitation timber framing. Note elaborate bargeboards to north gable. Note flat roof bay windows on west front added in 1913.	Positive

4987	4987	Bulstrode Way	73	'Redriff, 73 Bulstrode Way?	Proposed 1:two storied cottage	Constantine & Vernon, [F/ARIBA], 82 Mortimer Street, London W1	23-Oct-28	Unusual brick in dark mainly brown brick with hipped pantiled roof. Projecting gable with tiled springers. Brick and tile patterns include herringbone bricks between upper windows and tympani over two front windows with wavy tiled/brick patterns. Also some tiles projecting from walls. Casement windows with leaded lights. Front garden wall has unusual paneled coping, presumably to match house. House set close to road. Three chimney stacks, two on ridge. Julian: Interesting late 1920's 3-bay house by good London architect. Note ornamental tiling in relieving arches over ground floor windows, at corners and next to original arched entrance to garden.	Positive
1342	1342	Bulstrode Way	2	'Ingleside' 2 Bulstrode Way	New detached house	Hooper & Nash GX	29-Jan-07	One of the earliest houses in Bulstrode Way. Full height canted bay window under black and white half-timbered gable. Wide balcony at first floor level with timber balustrade. Sash windows - multi-paned to upper sections. Hipped plain clay tiled roof with brick and pebbledash. Julian: Small 3-bay house by local surveyor with prominent wooden balcony over porch. One of the earliest houses in Bulstrode Way, speculative building before the entry of better class architects and arts & crafts style.	Positive
1488	1488	Bulstrode Way	4	'The Open House' 4 Bulstrode Way	New house	Geeves Mr H	28-Jan-08	2-bay, 2 storey plus attic house with hipped roof and very steep roof over enclosed porch. Projecting jettied gable with timber supports and under built bay window. Probably by John Graham Johnson for H. Geeves, speculative builder. Dramatic contrast with No. 2.
1567	1567	Bulstrode Way	6	6 Bulstrode Way	New house	Johnson J Graham	28-Jul-08	Particularly well-preserved example. Original pebbledash, two-toned painted casement windows and prominent chimneys typical of the Edwardian Arts and Crafts style. Red-brown brick in Flemish bond to ground floor. Built end-on to road. Off centre bow window to ground floor with particularly wide first floor window set under a tiled string course. Lateral chimney stack with interesting brickwork demonstrates how these houses were designed to be seen from the sides as well as the front. Julian: Small, unusual plan, 2-bay house by good architect for speculative builder. Pebble dashed first floor. Note unusual tiled roof to five light bay window.	Positive
1412	1412	Bulstrode Way	8	Denver & Wensley, 8-10, Bulstrode Way	Pair of new houses	Eves Wm L FRIBA Uxbridge	18-Jun-07	Unusual in being semi-detached. Both pebbledashed but no. 10 not painted. Original flat-roofed dormers to front. Oriel window to first floor. Each has small gable - half-timbered. Original rainheads. Recessed front door but porch at no. 8 has been altered. Generally well-preserved character apart from wide garages which give uncharacteristic horizontal emphasis, particularly at no. 10 which has an unsympathetic flat roof. Julian: Semi-detached house by Uxbridge architect for speculative builder. Old-fashioned for its date and built before a higher standard of design became the norm for Gerrards Cross. Note large original dormer windows to both houses, suggesting servant quarters even in a semi detached house. At number 8 former cantilever canopy over porch now supported by wooden pillars.	Positive

1552	1552	Bulstrode Way	14	'Crosford House' 14 Bulstrode Way	New house	Eves Wm L FRIBA Uxbridge	19-May-08	Large house appearing crowded onto its plot but included for its unusual design. A mass of gables, tall chimney stacks and differing rooflines and shapes. Tile hanging and pebbledash - some original windows. Julian: Unusual plan 3-bay house by Uxbridge architect for speculative builder. Note projecting chimney breast to west of porch with ogee curved roof over inglenook window. Note old tile hanging around window to attic bedroom.	Positive
1579	1579	Bulstrode Way	16	'Four Winds' 16 Bulstrode Way	New house	Thomas & Thomas 191 Edgware Road London W	25-Aug-08	Three-bay house with two projecting gables to south.. Two storey plus attics. Prominent staircase window. Note cantilevered roof over porch and original front door.
1592	1592	Bulstrode Way	18	'Cleve Cottage' 18 Bulstrode Way	New house	Carvill G B Trafalgar Buildings Northumberland Avenue WC	20-Oct-08	Two bay house by good London architect, very modern for its date. Porch and loggia to east have been remodelled. Note ori window and hexagonal landing window.

Hipped plain clay tile roof with rafters projecting from eaves and large chimney which helps to hide modern rooflight. Wide porch and canted bay window. Sash windows with multi-paned upper parts. Sympathetic timber greenhouse on side. Julian: 3-bay house very old-fashioned for its date. Built for speculative builder. Later bay window on east bay.	Positive
1645	1645	Bulstrode Way	22	'Appletree House' 22 Bulstrode Way	New house	Johnson & Boddy	23-Feb-09	Formerly called Katerina. Much extended and plans for alterations by London architect Harold Goslett were approved in 1928. Original house has twin gables with sprocketed eaves. Original door with dormer over. Multiple chimney pots on pebbledashed stacks. Mainly pebbledashed with tile-hanging in gables. Multi-paned casement windows. Julian: 3-bay house by John Graham Johnson built by same speculative builder as No.20. Note different treatment of the two projecting gables facing the road. Note sprocketed eaves particularly to the east bay and original front door. West bay rebuilt and large two storey extension to the west.	Positive
4928	4928	Bulstrode Way	22	'Appletree House' 22 Bulstrode Way	Proposed additions to 'Katrina'	Goslett Harrold, 28 Theobalds Road, London WC2	28-Aug-28

1530	1530	Bulstrode Way	24	Roseleigh 24 Bulstrode Way	New house	Fair & Myer 39 Furnival Street Holborn EC	21-Apr-08	Pebbledash with interesting red brick banding. Porch with balustrade at corner of house under hipped roof. Tall corbelled chimney stack above porch and another stack on ridge. Character rather compromised by replacement windows. Julian: 1 1/2 storey house with roof of projecting two-storey front gable brought down over porch. Interesting as a small house designed by a leading architect. Note three string courses of brickwork breaking up the pebble dashing.	Positive
3553	3553	Bulstrode Way	26	Not traced ?Bulstrode way? ?26	Proposed dwelling house	Maclaren Ross J. Esq., ARIBA, 21 Palace Street, Buckingham Gate, SW1	24-Jun-24	Three bay, two storey cream painted brick house. Note good modern porch using modern materials. Two separate extensions to east in keeping.
No Plan	1614	Bulstrode Way	28	'Rondebosche' now 'Holmbury' 28 Bulstrode Way	New house	Fair & Myer ARIBA 39 Furnival Street Holborn EC	29-Dec-08	Formerly called Rondebosche. White painted pebbledash with red brick dressings to look like quoins. Similar treatment adopted by same architects at 7 Layers Way. Gable at west end with full-height canted bay - smaller gable at east end. Character rather compromised by replacement windows. Julian: Intriguing design of 3-bay house. 2-storeys plus attic. Pebble dashed. West bay has canted bay window through two storeys with ornamental brick imitating corner stones. C/F No 7 Layers Way. Note later garage using same decorative features.	Positive
1868	1868	Bulstrode Way	30	'Leaside' 30 Bulstrode Way	New house	Duck G F GX	15-Nov-10	In 1931 drawings for an extension by Y J Lovells were also approved. Whitewashed render - plain clay tiled roof. Projecting east wing with first floor slightly jettied over canted bay window. Original door and windows at front enhance character. Julian: Three bay, two storey house. Old fashioned for the date. Note original porch and front door.	Positive

1622	1622	Bulstrode Way	34	Kinnell 34 Bulstrode Way	New house	Gilder E Thorley 100a High Street Watford	26-Jan-09	3-bay house, 2 storey plus attic. Old fashioned for date but bold semi-circular arch to recessed porch. Pebble dashed with rusticated brick quoins. Note large original dormer window suggesting servants quarters.
2035	2035	Bulstrode Way	36	Sherwood House 36 Bulstrode Way	New house	Duck G F GX	16-Apr-12	Built by Claude Baldwin who was in partnership with the surveyor, Duck. Unusual house for Gerrards Cross in being symmetrical with two gables either side of the front door. Gables are tile-hung with the first floor rooms jettied over the ground floor canted bay windows. Front clad in wistaria. With the simple matching garage with pitched roof and timber doors, gravel drive and front hedge the whole ensemble is typical of the garden village. 		Ethorpe Crescent		Ethorpe Hotel				Originally a gentleman's residence called Fernacre Cottage. Built early C19 - shown on 1840 Tithe Map. The name was changed to Ethorpe in the late 1800s. The grounds and meadow land extended to 7 acres. When the estate was sold in 1923 the house was converted into a hotel, Ethorpe Crescent was laid out in what had been the gardens and the shopping parades to the west side of Packhorse Road, between the railway and Ethorpe were developed. The main building has a number of shallow hipped roofs with some flat roofed 1920s extensions. Two storeys high, a parapet serves partly to obscure the roofs and chimney stacks and the hotel has a generally horizontal emphasis. Rendered and whitewashed. Portico with open pediment. The hotel has been extended. During the 1920s and 1930s several plans were approved drawn by the architects R G Muir and Robinsons & Roods. The building in Ethorpe Crescent is significant. It was designed by R G Muir in Tudor style with three steep gables facing the road and tall shaped chimneys. All in red/brown brick laid in English bond. Julian: Six bay, two storey original building pre 1900 hipped slate roof behind parapet. Large porch projecting with pediment. Three bay two storey flat roofed extension to north. 1397	1397	Marsham Way	22	'The Rowans' 22 Marsham Way	New house	Kerkham Burgess & Myers Orcheyhill Estate Office GX	21-May-07	Alterations approved to plans by Lovell in 1924. This house is a particularly striking addition to the streetscape because of its height (two storeys plus attic) and tall lateral chimney stack with diaper brick work, and herringbone brick half-timbered porch. This house is also close to the road and more visible since the front garden has been paved over and there is no boundary to the street frontage. Julian: 3 bay, 3-storey house by leading local architects. Flat roofed bay windows on the north east corner. Note ornamental brickwork on projecting chimney stack. Later extension on south east corner in keeping.	Positive

1807	1807	Marsham Way	30	'Sowton' 30 Marsham Way	New house	Duck GF Esq, Station Approach GX	17-May-10	Although this house has a wide frontage with extensions at either end it retains its interest through the many projections with bay windows and an oriel on brackets and a projecting front porch under a sloping tiled roof. Rendered with red brick, notably as decorative quoins, tile hanging and some decorative half-timbering in gables. Interesting small triangular dormer on ridge. Also a first floor extension to the east end with a rounded end supported on Doric columns. Gravel drive but lack of a front boundary gives an uncharacteristic open look to the frontage. Julian: 2-bay house designed by local surveyor. Cement rendered with rusticated quoins in brick. Two storey extension to west with good copy of west gable. Note first floor twin round ended extension to east gable end supported on doric columns.	Positive

Good example of tile-hanging with some scalloped tiles. Brickwork also decorative with brown and red bricks. Two small hexagonal windows in porch. Two "overlapping" gables make for interesting roofscape. Low garden wall not characteristic but its brick does match house. Julian: Three bay two storey plus attic, tile hung first floor. Stepped tile hung gable to projecting south bay with roof brought down over shallow staircase window and porch supported by wooden columns. Note octagonal windows to north and south of original front door. One of the best examples of tile hanging in Gerrards Cross.	Positive

5624	5624	Oak End Way	2-10	2-10 Oak End Way	Proposed lock up shops	Beard J S FRIBA, & Clare National Bank House, 101/3 Baker Street, London W1	15-Jul-30	Nos 4-10 form a row of modest single-storey shops, some of which have retained their original shops fronts and black and white tiled entrance floors. The hipped roof and canted shop window at number 10 make an elegant turn of the corner. No 2 is attached to the rear of Station Parade in Packhorse Road and two storeys high but its roof and eaves are lower. This lack of height in 2-10 allows a view of the complex and interesting roofscape of Station Parade. These buildings are also opposite the listed 70 Packhorse Road and so affect its setting. The row would benefit from sensitive alteration of the modern shop fronts.	Positive

Their plans for alterations were approved in 1913. Built by Jesse Mead of Chesham. Butterfly shape with hipped roofs, eyebrow dormers and tall chimney stacks. Rendered walls. Pevsner describes it as "in a fussy version of Voysey's most intimate style". Nonetheless this is a building of local note. On a corner site, its setting could be improved by the continuation of the fine yew hedge fronting Oval Way in place of a non-characteristic brick wall fronting Orchehill Avenue. Two tall chimney stacks and recessed oval dormer in roof. Pevsner says the bungalow was enlarged in 1983-4 by CZWG, a leading London practice. The most striking features are the glass canopies and metalwork which Pevsner describes as "a la Guimard". (Hector Guimard (1867-1942) was prominent in the French art nouveau movement. The entrance to the Porte Dauphin station on the Paris Metro has glass canopies similar to that at the Bourne). Julian: Modest two-bay bungalow designed by Charles Clarke on site next to Pollards left vacant until 1920, with feature round window to attic. Single storey extension to north. Modernised c. 1960. 1957	1957	Packhorse Road	70	70 Westminster House, (former Barclays Bank) now W.R. Beck Property	New Bank	Edgington & Spink 52 High Street Windsor	22-Aug-11	5/508 Former Barclays Bank G.II Bank. 1911-12, by Edgington and Spink. English bond brick with stone dressings: slate mansard roof; brick ridge stacks with moulded stone cornices. Double - depth plan. Renaissance style. 2 storeys and attic; symmetrical 3 - window range. Finely - carved pedimented stone doorway, with flaming urn set in tympanum of swan-necked open pediment over fluted Corinthian pilasters framing panelled double doors. 12 - pane sashes set in gauged red brick square headed architraves with finely - carved keystones to ground floor and cut brick aprons to first floor. Rusticated quoins strips; dentilled wood cornice; oedimented dormers. Similar 3 - bay side elevations, with rear bay to right having fine brick swag over round window above sash window framed by rusticated pilaster and quoins strips. Two-storey extension of 1930s and one-storey extension of 1958, in similar style to rear. Interior: banking hall has panelled dado with dentilled cornice, and arched doorways to stair - hall at rear Marian: Now estate agent's offices. Designed by Windsor architects Edgington & Spink, whose plans for the original building were approved in 1911. The same architects had plans for alterations approved in 1928. The firm which originated as Edgington & Son in 1856 undertook work at Windsor Castle and for the nobility and gentry. Herbert Spink became a partner in 1907 and Edgington & Spink designed many buildings in East Berkshire. The firm continues today in Duchet as Edgington, Spink and Hynes. Built by Y.J Lovell for Barclays Bank, the third bank to be built in Gerrards Cross which marked the northern limit of the commercial centre. Its position on the bend of Packhorse Road, at its junction with South Park and Oak End Way and opposite the Ethorpe Hotel makes it a gateway building. Its location and distinctive appearance also make the building a landmark and it draws the eye when travelling north up Packhorse Road. All four elevations can be seen from the public realm, making the building particularly sensitive to alteration. The architectural style is one quite commonly used for public buildings in the Edwardian period and draws its influence from the English Baroque architects. This style is called "Renaissance" and it contrasts with the generally Tudorbethan style prevalent in the commercial centre. Features of the style found on this building include the mansard roof, dormer windows, rusticated brick quoins and in particular, the "handsome stone doorcase" remarked upon by Pevsner. The mixture of mellow red and grey brick, the twelve-pane sash windows, slate roof, ridge chimney stacks, gauged brick window surrounds and aprons, stone dressings, carved keystones over the ground floor windows, dentilled wooden cornice and symmetrical, harmonious composition make the building a decorative but dignified addition to the streetscene. Began as a large farmhouse converted to a gentleman's residence c.1780. Programme of extensive additions and alterations when bought by William Blount c.1840. Further alterations to designs of Colcutt & Hamp approved in 1909. Comparison with 1900 photo in the History p.21 show these had significant effect. In particular many chimneys have been lost and the building now has a much more horizontal emphasis. Later alterations to accommodate present school use. Julian: Originally a large farmhouse converted to a gentleman's residence c.1780. Greatly extended and embellished c.1840. Cement rendered, slate roof, project central bay with enclosed flat roofed porch. Three light mullioned window above with coat of arms of Somerset family to gable. Large transomed mullioned windows to ground and first floor. Large single storey service wing to south with four gables facing west. Further extension to east as part of school in 1950s. 			85	Eithorpe Hotel (including Eithorpe Crescent extension) Also see history of Eithorpe Hotel buildings shown in Eithorpe Crescent section.				Originally a gentleman's residence called Fernacre Cottage. Built early C19 - shown on 1840 Tithe Map. The name was changed to Eithorpe in the late 1800s. The grounds and meadow land extended to 7 acres. When the estate was sold in 1923 the house was converted into a hotel, Eithorpe Crescent was laid out in what had been the gardens and the shopping parades to the west side of Packhorse Road, between the railway and Eithorpe were developed. The main building has a number of shallow hipped roofs with some flat roofed 1920s extensions. Two storeys high, a parapet serves partly to obscure the roofs and chimney stacks and the hotel has a generally horizontal emphasis. Rendered and whitewashed. Portico with open pediment. The hotel has been extended. During the 1920s and 1930s several plans were approved drawn by the architects R G Muir and Robinsons & Roods. The building in Eithorpe Crescent is significant. It was designed by R G Muir in Tudor style with three steep gables facing the road and tall shaped chimneys. All in red/brown brick laid in English bond.	Positive

8594	8594	South Park Crescent	1	The Priory	Proposed additions to 'The Priory'	Muir R S Esq., 1 Raymond Buildings, Grays Inn, WC	17-Aug-37	5/498 The Priory - - G.II C19 picturesque house, probably on earlier core, red brick with plain tile roof and 2 paired ridge stacks. One storey and attic. West front: 2 gabled dormers with barge-boards and leaded lights. Door with small window to one side in large gabled brick and timber porch, 2 casements each side. South end gable has ornamental barge-boards and brick oriel window with small paned iron casements. Early farmhouse shown on 1840 O/S map. One storey plus attic picturesque cottage. Plans for additions (nod. 8594) by architect Robert Muir approved in 1937. Red brick with plain clay tiled gable-ended roof with two gabled dormers to front; large scalloped bargeboards. Two prominent ridge chimney stacks. Small-paned casement windows. Name plaque says c1590. Pevsner says its C16 date is "given away by the steep roof's long wavy roofline and big chimneystacks". The History states that Wm. Blount acquired The Priory Farm when Latchmoor Field was enclosed in 1846. On the 1876 map the buildings are marked as Orchestill Farm. They later appear to have become a pair of cottages and were presumably subsequently united into one house and altered. The house is listed in directories of 1915 and subsequent years as the Priory, home of Arthur J. Dege.	Listed

2046	2046	South Park Drive	17	Hampton Lodge, 17 South Park Drive	Conversion of stable buildings into dwelling house	Hopkins P 37 Mortimer Street London W	14-May-12	This building was the subject of a television house history programme which researched the building's fabric and documentary evidence. Former barn, possibly with C17 origins, later extended and used as a coach house/stables for Orchehill House. The 1912 plans were for the conversion into a private house in a Tudor style. The programme concluded that materials, particularly internal panelling, were reused from Orchehill House. A most unusual house with strong character which has been eroded by replacement uPVC window frames. Programme website reference in Sources. Julian: At the heart of this building is an old barn, possibly from the 17th Century. It was extended over the years, used as a coach house / stables for Orchehill House and converted by a local architect into a private house in 1912. It is an unusual conversion and striking building for Gerrards Cross. It is believed that materials reclaimed from the partial demolition of Orchehill House were used during the conversion. Now a four bay, two storey plus attic house end on to the road. Brick gables with castellated coping. Ground and staircase windows having stone drip courses. Note stained glass to staircase window and oriel three light window.	Positive

1445	1445	South Park Drive	25	Waynelete Lodge (Orchehill Lodge on Aylesbury Road)	Alterations & additions to lodge	Robinson & Roods 8 New Court Lincolns Inn	24-Sep-07	Local landmark building. One of the three lodges to Orchehill House, built 1840s, two of which remain (the other is Raylands Lodge, Baulstole Way in the Common Conservation Area). 1907 extensions/alterations. It faces Lower Road which was originally the turnpike road from London to Amersham. The large extension prevented the listing of this building but the work is in character and the building remains significant for its historic associations and picturesque appearance. Rendered with slate roofs with clay ridge tiles. Tall brick chimneys. The style matches that of Orchehill House. Julian: Lodge to Orchehill House built c.1860s. Single storey stone, cement rendered with stone mullion windows and stone coping to gables. Slate roof, angled brick chimneys of similar lodge on Oxford Road, A40.	Positive
